BASIC INFORMATION

DESCRIPTION

The security is a concern that has been present in Simon since its beginnings. This care is even more important in the mechanisms of electrical systems such as covers, whose quality control is the maximum throughout the entire process of manufacturing them. In this range of products stands out the cover with safety device for two-pole socket-outlet white in colour of the Simon 82 series, it is also available in seven finishes and has dimensions of 55x55 mm, which allow you to perform installation both in surface-mounted and recessed in a universal box. The thermoplastic materials that compose it make it very resistant to knocks, besides being designed to withstand high and low temperatures with a magnificent behaviour in a multitude of environments, like the rest of the Simon 82 series products, it has the most competitive price in the industry.
