Frame support for 1 element Simon 100

REF. 10000910-039

BASIC INFORMATION

DESCRIPTION

Like all Simon 100 series products, this 1 element frame stand has been designed to make life easier for all of our customers. The launch of these types of frames is a revolution, because they are the first to allow the alignment of mechanisms in a unified and universal way, thus saving time and money. This product consists of a single painted steel body, extremely resistant and very rigid. It is also very easy to adjust and attach the mechanisms, which saves users time and money. Suitable to be recessed into any wall, it is easy to install and suitable for all types of projects. If you are looking for a quality frame holder that is simple and functional, easy to install and compatible with all types of mechanisms, the products of the Simon 100 series are the solution to all your problems.
