BASIC INFORMATION

DESCRIPTION

Adapting the sockets of the different computer and electronic elements to those we have in our homes and companies could sometimes cause a problem. To avoid these drawbacks, many people and professionals already rely on the middle Adaptor for computer connectors for Pouyet RJ45 format of the Simon 75 series, it is an adaptor piece for use only on inclined plates. The thermoplastic is the material with which this product has been manufactured, a component that gives it great resistance to knocks and high temperatures. This has made it one of the most widely installed parts in commercial establishments, hotels, hospitals, schools or offices buildings, like all the articles included in the 75 series range, its price is another of its great attractions, always if you give up the maximum quality in each article.
