BASIC INFORMATION

DESCRIPTION

The elements and mechanisms that make up the Simon 82 series allow you to change the electrical installations of homes and companies with a single gesture. One click is enough for a room to change its style in the most comfortable way. For this purpose, we have products such as the Plate adaptor in graphite of the Simon 82 series. This is a piece with a magnificent behaviour in all kinds of environments, so it is one of the most demanded plates to be used in the electrical installations of large buildings such as commercial establishments or headquarters of offices. Suitable both for surface or flush mounting, its installation can be carried out in a few minutes without any previous knowledge. You can choose from the six finishes available in our catalogue, highlighting also for the quality of its structure, which has been manufactured with thermoplastic components, and its price, which is the most competitive.
