

Dry Zone D-Lux trousers with reflective stripes

ART. 022401

ELKA Rainwear Dry Zone D-Lux trousers with reflective stripes – combine functionality, comfort, and safety, making them the ideal choice for your workwear in wet environments. These trousers are part of ELKA Rainwear's Dry Zone D-Lux series, known for their durability and reliability when it comes to workwear that must withstand both rain and wind under demanding conditions. The trousers feature visible reflective stripes along the legs, increasing your safety by making you more visible in dark or poor weather conditions. The elastic waistband ensures a comfortable, flexible fit that adapts to your body and movements. Zippers with wind flaps at the ankles make it easy to put the trousers on and take them off while protecting against water and wind. The practical side seam pocket openings provide easy access to the pockets of the clothing you're wearing underneath, while the extra ruler pocket and cargo pocket on the right and left legs respectively ensure that you always have the necessary tools at hand. These trousers are designed to withstand the toughest weather conditions, and with their many functional details, they offer the comfort and protection you need throughout your workday. Combine them with the matching Dry Zone D-Lux rain jacket with extra length for full protection and to create a complete waterproof rainwear set that keeps you dry and safe, even in the most challenging environments.
