

LAURA CHENEL

SONOMA, CA

In the 1970s, Laura Chenel embarked on a journey that would lead her to start a new chapter for goat cheese in America. Using methods she learned while apprenticing in France, she began selling her artisan cheeses in the farmer's markets of Sonoma County and local restaurants like Chez Panisse.

Today, Laura Chenel embodies its namesake's pioneering spirit as a leading producer of goat cheeses and yogurts crafted with fresh milk from family-owned farms in California, Oregon, Nevada, and Idaho.

OUR FARMS

As Laura Chenel originally did, our milk production is outsourced to family farms. We partner with 8 farms in the western United States. Each farm represents a different terrain and scale, raising breeds that accommodate cheese production needs in that unique locale.

OUR SUSTAINABLE CREAMERY

Located in the heart of Sonoma County, our state-of-art creamery keeps alive the traditions that our founder started 40 years ago. We were the first creamery awarded LEED Gold certification in the U.S., and our commitment to sustainable practices, including solar energy and water recycling, helps preserve the terroir for future generations.

Our cheeses and yogurts are made from fresh, never frozen, goat milk.

Up to 100% of all our electricity in the creamery is provided by solar panels.
